

The newsletter comes a day early this week as we have the moved Bank Holiday coming up tomorrow. I hope that you are able to find a way of making it a different kind of day if you can- for once we give the children permission to relax and avoid work!

There are many rumours flying around about announcements which may or may not come this weekend and what these may or may not mean for school. Speculation about this is not helpful at this point, but with some kind of phased return inevitable, you can be assured that we are already planning for how this might look in our school. Once we have some concrete information, we will be asking you for some input about what your concerns (if any) would be.

Thank you again to all of you who have said kind things individually or generally to the staff about the work they are doing. This is a very different way of working for all of us, and they face as many home working and home schooling challenges as you do. If you have any work worries, send them a note on Seesaw, any general worries can come to the office email and we will sort them as soon as we can.

I found this cartoon on Twitter which I felt summed up the message we would like to share; apologies if I am breaking any kind of copyright by using it.

We have found a good explanation of using Concrete resources for maths at home:
Concrete resources explained for parents: How to use them with your child at home to create a maths master!

If you would like to create your own maths master (as opposed to a maths monster), please look at <https://thirdspacelearning.com/blog/concrete-resources-cpa-explained/>

We have been contacted by the minister of Oakleigh Community church, Revd Mike Pavlou with this message:

Just to let you know that every Monday 10am-12pm, we will have FREE food essentials, available outside Oakleigh Community church, 168, Oakleigh Road North London N20 OUG (top of Russell Lane N20)

Sponsored Learning

It may seem a while ago but your children's hard work in their sponsored spell back in March raised an amazing £2310. 6J raised the most money so they will get a much deserved non school uniform day on their return. The funds raised will be used to purchase new books for each class. A big thank you to Siobhan O'Connor and Charlotte Frost for coordinating this wonderful fundraising initiative. If you still have sponsorship money at home, please keep this safe until the school reopens or you can transfer it to Sacred Heart Parents Association bank account: Account No. 30790206, Sort Code: 20-95-61.

200 Club Winners
