

Question of the day:

Michelle Obama has a husband called Barack. True or False?

Yesterday's answer was False. The Titanic sank in 1912

Did you know: The most matches extinguished using the mouth in 1 minute is 68 (don't try this at home... obviously.)

Did you know: Most skips by a dog and a person in 1 minute is 59.

English Reading

Your task today is to answer one of the differentiated reading comprehension sheets on Ariana Grande.

English

Today, you are going to write your final paragraph and conclusion to your balanced argument. You must remember to make sure that you are fair to each side, but in the final paragraph you may give your own opinion as to what you think is best. You could also end with a rhetorical question.

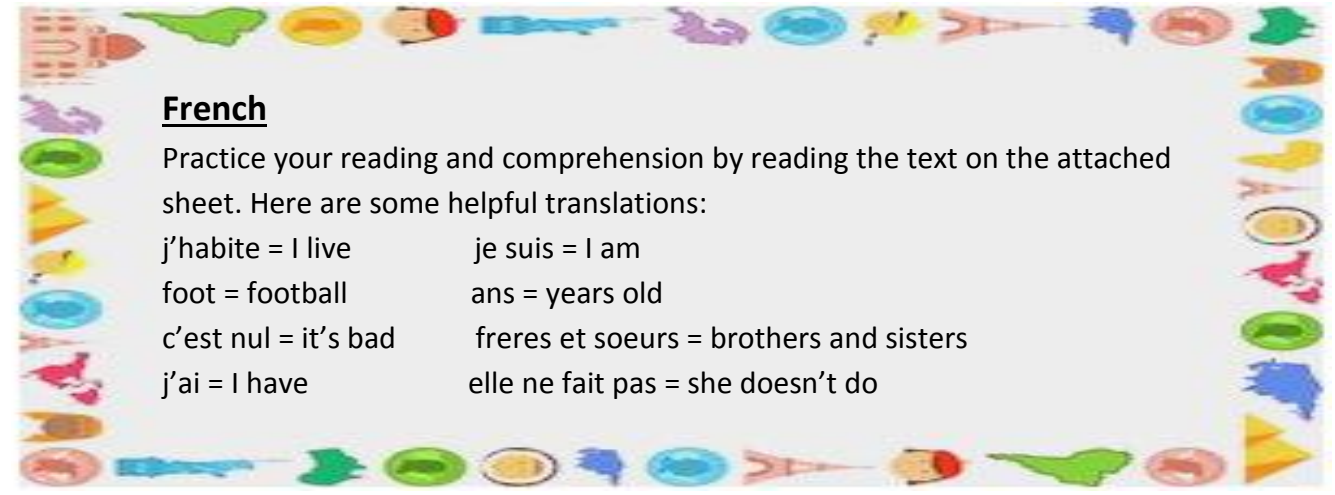

Maths – Dividing decimals

Watch the video before completing the sheet. It can be found under W/C

French

Practice your reading and comprehension by reading the text on the attached sheet. Here are some helpful translations:

j'habite = I live

je suis = I am

foot = football

ans = years old

c'est nul = it's bad

freres et soeurs = brothers and sisters

j'ai = I have

elle ne fait pas = she doesn't do

Additional Challenge: I'm posting something a little different from Jackson Lane Circus today. I am fully aware that most people do not have wheelchairs in their homes but this performer shows how you can use even the smallest space and a bit of music to stay fit.

Be careful if you are using a chair to mimic any of these exercises. He's allowed to tilt his chair back because he's had years of experience.
